Late Thursday night the electric light pole at the corner of Bellevue and Summit came down bringing with it wires and the limb of a small tree that happened to be in the way. Men from Rockville-Willimantic Lighting company were on the job Friday afternoon and had a new pole up in place of the old one that had rotted badly at the base before falling.

A special officer of the New Haven railroad brought Michael Ransowski to the police court Friday morning, charged him with trespassing on railroad property. Ransowski was given a sentence of 15 days in jail and was placed on probation for three months with a warning from the court to keep off railroad property in the future. The reason for bringing in Ransowski was that for some time people had been in the habit of trespassing on railroad property, picking up coal and metals that they could use for sale. This practice endangered their lives and the railroad determined to put a stop to it.

Friday forenoon a woman whose name was not disclosed, hired a team to carry her to Scotland. Before she could make the trip she was stricken with a fit and was saved from falling under the wheels of the horse by the driver of the wagon, James J. Casey. Mr. Casey with aid carried the woman to a nearby house and after reviving her the trip was resumed.

The Fourth is going to be a double holiday.

For a deeper appreciation of what liberty means, and forty-four years have passed since the Declaration of Independence. The patriotism has been tried time and time again and it has come out as strong as ever. It is because our high ideals are so strong that we can hope for just as many more years of freedom.

The Fourth is going to be a double holiday. You are going to have two days instead of one. You are going to have a double holiday. You are going to have a double holiday. You are going to have a double holiday.

Prime hind quarters are selling at 35 to 40 cents a pound, wholesale. Something over two weeks ago the price for whole carcasses was from 17 to 19 cents per pound. Retail prices now prevailing in the city are: for so-called choice cuts, round steak 35 cents per pound, sirloin 35 to 42 cents, short steaks and tenderloin 45 to 50 cents. Most of the dealers state that their cheap cuts have not advanced but the advance in choice cuts is necessary owing to the 19 cents raise wholesale within the past two weeks. The local depot of Swift & Co. give the same reason for this advance that has been held out when other advances were made, scarcity of cattle in the country due to large shipments overseas during the war, high price of grain and lack of help on ranches. The dealer claimed that cheap cuts no longer suited the taste of the people, even the poorer classes demanding the best cuts, thus keeping the prices up.

The Connecticut Company will make another change in the running time of the Willimantic-Norwich trolley line to take effect this (Saturday) evening. This change will be in the time for the last car out of this city, which has been added to the line to leave Willimantic at 10:15 (standard time). Not long ago this trolley was taken off and the running time of the last trolley set at 9:25 (standard time), since that time the trolley left at 9:25. Walking had become a habit of many people on Windham road owing to this situation. This new running schedule will all probably be continued through the summer provided the people patronize it.

Signs of the approach of the Glorious Fourth were evident Friday night when a gang of youngsters started celebrations on Main street, using scoters and smaller fire crackers. Thursday night in South Windham several enterprising young fellows decorated the trolley tracks with bays filled with torpedoes. The force of the explosions fairly lifted the trolley from the track and before the explosions ended the car was filled with smoke. Evidently someone called the young fellows down for their act as nothing was done Friday evening.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Sale of Mountain Avenue Property.
James I. Case has sold to Joseph J. and Theres Staud, for William B. and Alice Cousins, the property located at 24 Mountain Avenue, consisting of a three-family frame dwelling and a barn, together with a large tract of land. Mr. Staud will occupy one of the apartments.

Davis Theatre.
The show at the Davis today is one that cannot be equalled for variety and good clean entertainment. Heading the vaudeville is the Main Trio, a trio of singers who have a harmonious comedy offering that is sure to please. The next act is Helel and Wincaster, who presents a sensational unannounced ballet novelty act. Joe Daniele comes next, and he is a sort of a mirror that reflects various prominent comedians. The other act is R. S. and Winchester in a juggling jamboree. The feature picture is a characteristic Dorothy Gish screen farce, 'Mary Ellen Comes to Town.' Starting out in this story as soda dispenser in a seely village southern village, Miss Gish is seized with stage aspirations and journeys to the Gay White Way, where she becomes a singer in an cabaret, and is 'framed' by her boss and used as a lure to rid a certain innocent and wealthy frequenter of the jazz palace of his wealth. Of course, her better nature prevails, she falls in love with her intended victim, and they honeymoon in the very same town from whence she started. International comedy and a funny Mutt and Jeff comedy completes the show. Two complete performances tonight, at 8:15 and 9:15.

Davis Theatre Sunday.
The Intrusion of Isabel, the latest Mary Miles Minter feature, is being released by the American Film Co., Inc. is booked for a showing at the Davis theatre on Sunday night. It is the love story of a southern girl, Isabel Trevor, who goes to New York with her brother, Bert. He secures a position as valet to Jack Craig, a young broker, but yields one night to the temptation of appropriating a roll of bills. Haunted by fear, he flees from the city. Isabel has heard that Bert is the broker's partner, not his valet; so when her funds give out she just naturally solves the problem of roof and water by taking up her abode—uninvited—in Bert's half of Craig's house. She tells Craig to charge her expenses and Mammy's against Bert's dividends. The complications that follow this intrusion furnish five reels of diverting comedy and delightful romance. The other feature is 'Just for Tonight,' a six-part Goldwyn special, featuring popular Tom Moore. This is a regular comedy drama full of adventure, romance and quick action. Topics of the day completes this big double feature bill for Sunday evening.

Davis Theatre Next Week.
Manager Craig has secured for the Davis theatre all next week, with daily matinees, the best of all musical comedy companies, the Tip Top Merry-makers, in 'Fads and Follies,' with complete reviews of all the best in the musical comedy field. The Tip Tops come direct from the National theatre, Boston, where they are playing to standing room this week. The company numbers 20 people, mostly girls, and is headed by the cleverniest singing and dancing comedian, Al Lemon, supported by a company of good-looking singing and dancing cast chosen from the best in the musical comedy field. Special scenery, lighting effects, beautiful gowns, new songs, dances and ensembles are promised by the management, and judging from the past performances given by the Tip Tops in Boston, Brooklyn, Portland, New Haven, and other New England cities, theatregoers of Norwich can look forward to a gala week. Daily matinees will be given and several changes of program will be presented during the engagement.

The feature picture for Monday and Tuesday is 'Wanda Hawley' in Miss Hobbs, her first starring vehicle for Realart.

Breed Theatre.
For Sunday, Monday and Tuesday the Breed will present a special double program which will be headed by Anita Stewart in a drama of stage life, 'Mind the Paint Girl.' This is adapted from the famous stage play by Sir Arthur Wing Pinero and is a fascinating romance of a little slum girl who rises to fame on the stage over night by a song hit. It has been done, and this picture is entirely realistic and not one of the kind that appears on the face of it to be impossible. Every person that is interested in pictures at all is interested in the personal stage life, and this is a story of stage life behind the wings, with all the glamour about the stage life and the stage itself. Pearl White will also be seen in the second episode of 'The Black Secret.' This chapter is entitled 'Marked for Death' and is a real thriller. In it Miss White has limitless opportunities for dashing, daring, hairbreadth escapades and adventures. Other pictures on the bill include the Pathe News, a Century comedy and 'Topics of the Day.' Four shows Monday, at 1:30, 3, 5:15 and 8:15.

Breed Theatre.
Madge Kennedy's latest Goldwyn picture is 'Dollars and Sense,' a screen version of the Saturday Evening Post story of Octavus Roy Cohen. Miss Kennedy plays the part of Hazel Farron, a chorus girl who is ambitious to become a Broadway favorite. Through her friend, Daisy Van Ness, another chorus girl, she meets a wealthy stage doorman, Geoffrey Stanhope, and arouses his curiosity and interest by repelling his advances. He gives her his card, telling her significantly that he can find out where she lives. She needs him. She scornfully puts away the card, firmly resolving that nothing will induce her to accept his offer, but some time later her lover falls sick and frets because he cannot fulfill his ambition to relieve the sufferings of the poor. She realizes that his worry must be alleviated or he will not recover, and decides to sacrifice herself so that he may live. Stanhope gives her the key to his apartment. At that evening she comes to the Stanhope apartment and on opening the door is confronted by a man who eagerly takes her in his arms—that man is not Stanhope—it is her lover David. Dollars and Sense is the feature attraction at the Breed theatre today. Beatrice Michelena and her own company will also be seen in 'The Flame of Heligite.' This is a thrilling drama of a woman who resorted to primitive law to avenge the death of her father. It is a sensational drama of thrills and heart throbs. The Pathe News completes the bill.

Abner Schwartz Purchases Beautiful Residence Property.
Through the agency of Archibald W. Colt, the fine residence No. 25 Perkins Avenue has been sold by Mrs. Melie Marx Wilcox to Abner Schwartz, secretary and treasurer of Schwartz Bros., Inc. The property is located in the finest residential section of the city and the house contains ten rooms with modern improvements. The lot has a frontage of about 100 feet and is over 100 feet in depth. This property was for some years the home of the late Frank T. Brown, a prominent Norwich lawyer.
